You wouldn't believe it if I told you, but somewhere in this county there must be a Communist, or a group of Communists. I know the group must be in this county now, because the latest literature they have mailed to this newspaper was enclosed in a wrapper from the Farm Bureau News. I know the wrapper, is from the Farm Bureau News because I subscribe to that good publication and I have compared the mailing wrappers.

As in the past, I am forwarding the material to the proper authorities delegated to wiping out these kind of human rats. And they couldn't be anything but rats, the low, slinking, crawling type who would believe the type of subversive junk contained in the material they have sent us. Our "correspondent" is a right busy fellow. He's the same one, whoever he is, who has mailed many another piece of literature to us in the past. His handwriting is unmistakable and I would give anything in the world to be such an expert as to find out exactly where he can be found. Is say "he" the culprit might just be a woman.

The thing that amazes me about the literature is how it gets to the person who sends it to us through the mail. The material is so obviously Communist I am surprised that the source of the material could not be determined at once by the Post Office Department. But then Communists rely a lot on our great freedom that they would like to destroy to do their nefarious work. What's in the material? I'll give you an example or two.

For instance they dwell at length on Capitalism, and call it "rotten fruit." They dwell on the "alleged" accomplishments of Free Enterprise and say that the radio, TV, movies, the press and the church of these days are "firms" about such accomplishments. They say that people of retirement age are finding themselves "shunted from pillar to post, incarcerated within mislabeled 'rest' homes, without hope, without security, without friends." I suppose they want us to believe that in Russia all such homes have a TV and private bath in every room. No doubt they do it up "brown" right in Russia. . . just no rest homes at all. . . the concentration camp.

The poor critter who sent us that thing is certainly wasting postage. Instead of influencing these folks here at the News, he makes us so mad, we'd like to go out with a shot-gun and not rest until he was found and littered with a right healthy million holes. By the way, the material goes on to say that Peace is the main goal for Russia in 1954. Somehow this doesn't jibe with reports from American reporters covering the Iron Curtain that Russia has at least 22 divisions alerted for war and about five million men in uniform ready for battle at once. That's a funny kind of "peace."

Anyway, dear rat, or rats who sent us the material, please be advised that if you need poison to make you happy, we suggest you get a giant size supply of Rat-nip, containing arsenic, available at all local drug stores. And if you decide to eat the stuff, for your happiness, just remember it'll make us all happy if you do.

Now for something pleasant! The Mac McBrides are getting a mighty lot of happiness out of their youngster, Gerry Mac, who is only eleven months old and walking. The little fellow hasn't bothered to do any crawling, he just up and walks. And funnier than that is that he's walking a long, long time before he'll be talking.

And in the mail bag comes this wonderful little note from our good friend Gussie Browder, who was ailing at the Fulton hospital sometime ago. The note says:

Dear Jo:
Well I am feeling fine. How are you since you came out of the hospital? Those nice flowers you brought in my room, I wish to thank you again for them. I sent them out and put them on Lillian's grave. While I was in the hospital at Memphis I received so many nice letters and

AARON MCGOUGH INDICTED HERE BY GRAND JURY

Indictment Charges Man With Getting Funds Falsely

Aaron McGough, district manager for Bankers Life and Casualty Company, was indicted Monday by the Grand Jury for obtaining money under false pretenses. The indictment resulted from a complaint made by E. A. Collier, Route 4, Fulton, that he had given Mr. McGough a check for $24 for a hospitalization policy which he never received.

The check to Mr. McGough was dated March 13, 1953 and was cashed by him. In a letter written to the Chicago office of Bankers Life by Attorney Jennings Kearby, representing Mr. Collier, it was stated that no notification was ever received by Mr. Collier indicating that his application had been processed and that a policy would follow.

The letter also stated that Mr. Collier had another policy with Bankers Life, in force prior to the date in 1953, and that he was satisfied with the service offered by the company.

Mr. McGough left Fulton last fall to assume his new duties with the district offices in Evansville.

A photostatic copy of the check and a receipt given Mr. Collier by Mr. McGough were introduced as evidence to the Grand Jury.

Other indictments returned by the jury are as follows: James Borden was indicted for trespassing on the lands of P. F. King by depositing one lot of debris, etc. on lands of the said P. F. King without his knowledge or consent and against his will.

James Broils was indicted for aiding, abetting and encouraging after the fact to steal an automobile.

Lewis Singleton and Virginia Craddock of West Hickman were indicted for maintaining a common nuisance. They were charged with living together as man and wife and bearing children to each other in a house located in West Hickman.

A. T. Moody's indictment charged him with grand larceny: stealing an automobile from John Earle of Fulton.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL INAUGURATES DIESEL FREIGHT; ADAMS' BUY SMITH'S CAFE

Highlighting business activity around Fulton this week was the appearance of the first diesel freight ever pulled through the local yards on a regular schedule, foretelling the probable change-over to Diesel power for the Cairo District in the near future, the News learned Thursday.

The Birmingham District, Jackson to Birmingham, has now been completely dieselized. Freight trains DC-4, Birmingham to Chicago, and SE-1, Chicago to Birmingham, are scheduled to be converted to diesel "very soon", authoritative rail road sources told the News on Thursday. When they are, only three more units will be required to complete the dieselization of the district.

In other news in railroad circles in Fulton this week, the News learned that:

—Dining car service in Fulton is now on an "emergency basis" only and Fulton no longer is the center of this activity as it used to be. With all diners now in thru transit, the servicing of diners is being done either in Chicago or in Memphis.

—There is no foundation to the local rumor that the local passenger station may be moved to the old dining car service building and the present station torn down.

In other news of business circles in Fulton this week, the News learned that:

—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Adams have purchased Smith's Cafe from "Sizzler" Moss, from whom they had been leasing the property. This restaurant landmark in Fulton has long been prominent from Canada to the Gulf as a favorite stopping point for travelers, and has been an integral part of Fulton business life for upwards of a half century.

—A reported combine of Guy Fry, James Green and Duke Crews has purchased the short-lived interests of a Union City group in the local Dodge-Plymouth agency, formerly owned and operated by Smith Atkins. Renamed the Dixie Motor Company last month, the firm has now been named the Twin-City Motor Company.

—Building and modernizing continues at a steady pace with business building presently centered on the construction of the new Masonic structure behind the Post Office, the completion of a modernization job on the Fall and Fall Insurance office building, and the landscaping of the new highway by-pass area by the contractor as a major step in completing this new road.

Site selected is the area of Browder St. extension and a committee to be selected by the Fiscal Court will complete all arrangements as soon as the architect completes his specifications.

Much credit is due Mrs. Ward Bushart and her loyal workers who solicited the local funds necessary to match State and Federal funds given which to erect the structure. A total of $13,000 was collected.

WARREN PERJURY TRIAL SET FOR WEEK OF JUNE 7

Local Attorney Waived Extradition When He Appeared Voluntarily

Douglas Greene, prosecuting attorney of Green County, Missouri told the News by telephone Tuesday that James Warren, local attorney, would be tried in Circuit Court there the week of June 7 on a perjury charge. The charges were filed on the basis of conflicting statements made by Warren to the grand jury when he voluntarily appeared before them on August 29, 1952 and statements he made to the trial jury in January of 1953.

The trial, scheduled for May 10, was held over until the jury was in session. It will convene May 17.

The charges against Warren resulted from testimony given in connection with the bribery case of Street Commissioner Charles Ray Brown, who is now serving a two-year term in the Missouri State penitentiary for accepting a $1,000 bribe from Warren, as agent for Russell and Axon consulting engineers.

Greene said that Warren would not have to be extradited to Missouri in view of the fact that he voluntarily appeared in Missouri and thus waived extradition.

Prosecutor Greene said if Warren failed to appear for trial and forfeited his bond, that Green County officials would ask Fulton County Sheriff John Rose to place Warren under arrest and deliver him to Green County authorities for trial.

During the trial last year the state introduced into evidence a check for $15,407.70 which was paid to Warren by Russell and Axon.

During cross examination the state asked Warren if he had ever performed any services — legal or otherwise — for the firm of Russell and Axon in the state of Missouri. Warren replied that he had not.

Then the state produced and introduced into evidence a transcript of the testimony that Warren had given the Greene County grand jury when he made a voluntary appearance before it on Aug. 29, 1952.

At that time Warren admitted having performed some legal services on bonding contracts in the state of Missouri and at the trial later admitted having made an interpretation of a Missouri law in comparison with a Kentucky law for Russell and Axon.

The reason for the $15,407.70 to Warren, in question, was — as shown by state's exhibit — paid to Warren for Missouri legal services and charged off on company records to the "Springfield project."

However, the defense attempted to show that the check was for Kentucky and Tennessee legal work and the other "connection" services for Russell and Axon by Warren.

Warren and Jess Russell both testified that the check was for Warren's services in the two states east of the Mississippi and listed some 15 or more jobs in those two states on which Warren had worked for the company.

Both Warren and Russell testified there was no written contract between Warren and the company but that, by verbal agreement Warren was to receive 15 percent of the contract for services rendered the firm.

Bob White Puts C of C Responsibility Where It Belongs

We admire the spunk and enthusiasm with which Chamber of Commerce President Bob White has assumed the duties of the organization. Bob has placed the burden of responsibility right where it belongs... on the shoulders of every citizen in the twin cities.

The new president has said that he expects every citizen to be a committee of one to assist with the functions of the organization.

That's exactly as it should be. An individual or a firm should not expect to merely pay dues to the Chamber of Commerce and then sit back and wait for the magic results to be performed. An organization is only as successful as its members make it and that is truer of a Chamber of Commerce than of any other organization we know of.

It has been so simple for some people to complain that the Chamber of Commerce has not accomplished anything in years past and probably won't in the future. That thinking reflects the initiative of the person making the statement. For, if that person did everything within his power to procure the improvements and industry that a Chamber of Commerce sets out to secure, then he is only criticizing his own failure if the goal is not reached.

Bob White, and the people surrounding him in the administration of the Chamber of Commerce are no magicians. They cannot pull industry or other successful projects out of a hat, as does a magician. Rather they are captains of a team and expect full cooperation from each member of the team to bring to completion the serious, yet satisfying, game of doing things for this community that need to be done.

A Chamber of Commerce must work together harmoniously with all other groups interested in mutual projects. The City Administrations of both Fulton and South Fulton, must work with the Chamber of Commerce, for in the end results all are working toward the same accomplishments.

It is apropos to tell you that the Chamber of Commerce has not had the response to its mail membership drive as was anticipated. The organization cannot pay a secretary, maintain an office, make necessary trips and buy office supplies with lip service. It needs money and that's where you come in.

If you have not paid your dues as committed how about doing so now.

Meanwhile bear in mind what Mr. White has said: "A Chamber of Commerce is the responsibility of all the people and only full cooperation of all citizens can it succeed." If you have no faith in the work that a Chamber of Commerce can do, then you have little faith in your own ability to get a job done. Remember that!

Citizens Should Make Sentiments Known to Council

A City Council can only reflect the wishes of its citizens, when the citizens themselves make their wishes known.

Such a fine example was shown last week at the City Council meeting of South Fulton when more than 100 persons attended the meeting to protest certain actions that were being taken by their council. The citizens represented didn't like the idea of an increase in rates for garbage collection when they were really expecting a decrease. They told the Council what they thought. Too, they did not like the idea of members of City Council and city employees getting their city tags free and they protested and now those citizens are going to pay for their city tags.

The whole idea of those 100 citizens attending the meeting and protesting is a healthy situation. It is in direct contrast to the situation that has developed in the City of Fulton. For some unknown reason Fulton citizens have a great hesitancy, even a marked "fear" of attending Fulton City Council meetings and we don't know why. At the last Council meeting in Fulton only two people, both representatives of local papers, attended the meeting, exclusive of two men who had business to do with the Council.

While we don't presume to speak for the council, we do feel and have long felt that more of the citizenry ought to attend council meetings, and afford themselves the opportunity of speaking for or against the government of their community. After all, it's your city, and you elected the councilmen and the Mayor, and we rather think that many times they welcome comment in order to better determine what course, on some matters, to pursue. The council meetings are open to the public, by law.

The lack of public attendance at the City Council meetings of Fulton, Ky. is no condemnation of the council. These men are busy with city "house-keeping" duties at Council meetings, but never too busy to set aside a few minutes for their citizenry to voice requests, ask opinions or otherwise be heard. While it may be up to them to "weigh" the possibilities as to whether the majority of the community will be for or against a request by an individual, or as to whether the best interests of the city will be served in taking their action, it still behooves the citizenry to make their thoughts known.

The citizens of South Fulton have demonstrated to their Council that their collective voice will be heard at council meetings. . . and it's a good, healthy, wholesome condition to develop.

Sermonette of the Week -

Television Has A Sacred Trust

The following are excerpts from a speech by Pope Pius XII on the subject of television.

The rapid progress which television has already made draws our attention more and more to this marvelous instrument which science and technology offer humanity. It is destined to have a profound influence for good or evil on public and private life.

In recent times the movies, sports, not to mention the dire necessities of daily work, have increasingly tended to keep the members of the family far away from home. Thus the natural blossoming of domestic life has been upset. We must be glad that television contributes efficaciously to reestablish the balance providing the whole family with an opportunity for honest diversion together, away from the dangers of bad company and places.

WE EARNESTLY HOPE that the spiritual links which bind the Christian family will be drawn still tighter, and that a greater knowledge, a deeper understanding, and a wider extension

sion of God's reign on earth may follow the use of this marvelous instrument in diffusing the light of the Gospel message in men's minds

When we think of the incalculable value of the family which is the very cell of society, and reflect that within the home must be begun and carried out the physical as well as the spiritual development of the child, we cannot fail to proclaim to all who have any responsibility in television that their duties and responsibilities are most grave before God and society.

ONE CANNOT IMAGINE anything more fatal to the spiritual health of a country than to rehearse before so many innocent souls even within the family circle those lurid scenes of forbidden pleasures which can undermine and bring to a lasting ruin a formation of purity, goodness, and healthy and personal social upbringing.

One of the reasons, less noticed perhaps but real nonetheless, for the spread of so much immorality, is not the lack of regulations, but the lack of reaction of good people, who have not known how to make timely denunciations of violations against the public laws of morality.

TELEVISION should not only be morally irreproachable but also should become an instrument of Christian education. As our predecessor Pius XI said in an address to the motion picture industry: "Just as the advances in art, science, even in technical perfection and industrial production are true gifts of God, so also they must be directed to the glory of God and the salvation of souls."

Capt. Tom's Column

Capt. Tom I. Gibson, Friars Point, Miss.

DEAN CLARENCE MANION.

We have among the people of the nation, certain ones who just stand out head and shoulders above the common run of folks, regardless of the saying we are all created equally. We might be created that way but some by their self sacrifice, their ability to think and their ambition, raise to altitude far higher than the common run. We have folks who are placed in important offices but that does not make them big men by any means.

In my opinion we have such a citizen of the former type in Clarence Manion, Dean of Constitutional Law in Notre Dame. He is the type of man I would like to see as President and I would certainly support him with all of my might (small as it is).

He held the position as chairman of the Commission of Intergovernmental relations under the present administration. In that position he was to pass on the Constitutionality of the many intrusions the Government has made in the lanes of private business, becoming a competitor of tax payers who have to pay for the competition of Government.

He probably had the clearest insight into such entangled situations of any one in the nation. He was proud of the fact that he held such a position for which he was so well fitted. We who knew of his ability were proud of the President that he had put so well a qualified person into that office.

Ever since his appointment there has been some columnists and commentators who have been gunning for him. They did not want him heading a commission of Senators, Congressmen and private citizens which was to govern the relations between government and the rights of states. He was a known enemy to Federal Socialism and a believer in private enterprise.

One of the planks in the republican platform was that no treaty or agreement should deprive our citizens of rights guaranteed them by the constitution. When the Bricker Amendment came up that no president or any one else could make any private agreement with any nation with out the matter being reviewed by the senate, Dean Manion took to the "stump" for it, bringing to the fore the fact that we could never stand another Yalta Agreement (where Hiss took such a prominent part) which so involved the rights of our citizens.

He knew that it put him in jeopardy and that the president was opposed to the amendment, but never the less with the courage that was his, he went right ahead in his campaign. The result, every one knows. A matter of principle would not be compromised by Dean Manion.

The president dropped many notches in the eyes of the nation when he "fired" a man as competent and fearless as the Dean of Constitutional Law of Notre Dame.

A New Queen is Crowned... Long Live the King!

EVERY YEAR it happens in Memphis. May brings the Cotton Carnival and the coronation of a radiant new Queen and her King. But the loudest cheers are for the old monarch, King Cotton, who almost lost his throne to an insect—the boll weevil.

Old timers remember those grim days. Cotton farmers stood helpless while their only cash crop was ravaged. The economy of the entire South was shaken.

Joining forces with state agriculturists, the Illinois Central sent train after train through the cotton lands, demonstrating to tens of thousands of farmers ways to combat the pest. The railroad also showed farmers how to raise diversified cash crops. Fine bulls were provided to improve dairy herds and butter makers were brought in to establish local markets for milk.

The boll weevil fight is now agricultural history. But the Illinois Central has never relaxed its program of help for farmers... showing the way toward the improvement of soil, crops, pastures and dairy herds and stimulating the planting of millions of trees as cash crops for the future.

The success of these efforts is reflected in the gaiety of present day Cotton Carnivals. These celebrations also attest the soundness of the creed the Illinois Central has subscribed to for a century—that helping its friends and neighbors in agriculture and industry is the best way of helping the railroad.

Your kitchen stays cooler when you cook with an electric range. Heavy insulation around oven doors keeps heat inside... makes cooking faster. And, surface units heat the pans, not the air around them. That means your kitchen is as comfortable as the rest of your house while you cook.

What's more, electric ranges make cooking so simple, even a novice becomes an expert. Electric timers, controlled heat and "constant-temperature" coils take the guesswork out of cooking. And, electric ranges are clean—soot-free for cleaner kitchens and easier-to-clean pans.

That's why—women who know, cook electrically. Today, see the electric range of your dreams at your dealers.

Illinois Central Opens New Terminal

Climaxing eight years of concerted action and cooperation between the City of New Orleans and the eight major railroads serving the Port City was a day-long celebration on Saturday, May 1, dedicating the new Union Passenger Terminal, which will be used by all the railroads entering New Orleans.

Dedication ceremonies were held in the main concourse of the new station.

Mayor de Leasse Morrison, during whose administration the city-wide improvement program has been carried out, described the achievements of the program. Principal speaker was William T. Farley, president of the Association of American Railroads, who will speak for the railroad industry. Wayne A. Johnston, president of the Illinois Central, and the presidents of the other seven New Orleans lines were among the visiting guests at the ceremonies.

A bottle of water filled with samples taken from the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, Lake Michigan, Gulf of Mexico, and the Mississippi, Ohio and Rio Grande rivers was used to formally dedicate the new station.

These important bodies of water along the lines of the railroads serving the Crescent City give evidence of the vast area of the nation to which New Orleans is linked by a network of steel rails. A civic dinner sponsored by the City on a subscription basis was held Saturday evening at the Roosevelt Hotel to conclude the day long ceremonies. William E. Kemp, Mayor of Kansas City and president of the American Municipal Association, was the dinner speaker.

An exhibit train, representative of a modern streamline passenger train, on display at the station.

Each of the New Orleans lines contributed a modern piece of equipment to make up the display. A streamline diesel passenger locomotive was contributed to the exhibit by the Illinois Central.

The new terminal is part of a $57 million city-wide program of elimination of railroad tracks, reduction of traffic on certain streets, city-wide grade separation and extensive street improvements related to overhauling New Orleans' transportation system.

The new station is located at the intersection of Loyola Avenue and Earhart Boulevard on property formerly owned by the Illinois Central Railroad. These streets are being widened and will intersect at a landscaped traffic circle in front of the new terminal. Named Bienville Plaza after the founder of New Orleans, this traffic circle will be a hub from which will radiate key traffic arteries. The plaza is being constructed on the site formerly occupied by the old Illinois Central Union Station, recently demolished.

The new unified station will replace five depots and sets of track approaches. The cost of the new station building is $2,250,000. The over-all cost of the station, yards, track re-arrangements, engine facilities, signal and interlocking systems, express building and other installations is more than $17 million. This cost is being borne by the railroads from proceeds of a $15 million City revenue bond issue, which the railroads are obligated to retire, and from additional contributions by the railroads. In addition, the railroads have spent approximately $5 million for improvements and changes in their individual facilities. The railroads are also paying 15 per cent of the cost of grade separations, their share of which amounts to more than $3,500,000. Of the total cost of the $57 million program, the railroads will pay in excess of $25 million.

The City of New Orleans is contributing approximately $20 million as its part of the program on the basis of an 85-15 per cent division of grade separation costs. Other street projects which are being undertaken will increase the City's total contribution to about $23 million. The Federal Government and the State Highway Department of Louisiana are assuming the cost of three grade separations on State and Federal highways totaling more than $8 million.

Ground was broken for the new station building on December 4, 1951. It was completed and open for partial operation on January 8, 1954, with the Sunset Limited of the Southern Pacific System as the first arriving train, and the Panama Limited of the Illinois Central as the first departing train.

The station building is rectangular in shape, 140 feet wide by 260 feet long. Its two stories and mezzanine contain 94,000 square feet of floor area. Of modern architectural design, the building is a steel frame structure on a foundation of wood pilings. Exterior walls are granite and sandstone, and the interior walls are of marble, aluminum and painted murals depicting the history of Louisiana. The station is of the stub-end type with all traffic being handled at ground level. Twelve passenger tracks will serve the 44 daily passenger trains using the station.

The main concourse contains a consolidated ticket office, comfortable waiting rooms, restaurant, cocktail lounge, barbershop, newsstand, washrooms, and other conveniences for the traveling public. Old-time, hard waiting room benches have given way to brightly colored, plastic-upholstered divan-type seats. The entire building is completely air-conditioned.

The new terminal is administered by the Union Passenger Terminal Committee, composed of representatives of the railroads, the City of New Orleans, and of the Public Belt Railroad Commission. C. H. Mottier, vice-president and chief engineer, who played an important role in conceiving and developing the new terminal, is the Illinois Central representative of the Union Passenger Terminal Committee. Clarence J. Wallace, a former member of the Illinois Central served as chief engineer for the construction of the terminal, has been named terminal manager.

In addition to the Illinois Central, railroads participating in the terminal program included Southern Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, Kansas City Southern, Gulf, Mobile and Ohio, Southern, Missouri Pacific and the Texas and Pacific.

Fight Against Indecent Literature Continues

War has been declared against smut by the young people of Syracuse, New York.

Seventy Boys and girls in teams of two have been canvassing selling points of indecent comic books, pocket editions, digest type novels, and magazines, asking proprietors if they will allow them to bundle the objectionable publications for return to distributors. The youngsters never argue their case; they appeal instead to the instinct of common decency which is in every man.

Meanwhile in Manchester, New Hampshire, Council of Carpenters adopted a resolution charging that "the spread of obscenity in all its forms has contributed much to delinquency among juveniles."

The resolution commended the Legislature for enacting measures which clarified its statutes on the meaning of obscenity, and "which have brought numerous convictions, and have contributed much to prevent the further distribution of obscene literature."

The American Cancer Society defines cancer as an uncontrolled growth of cells which, if not checked, will result in death.

KENTUCKY FARMERS STILL TROUBLED WITH DROUGHT; PAYING CROPS ARE SUGGESTED

The fear of drought still troubles Kentucky farmers and most of them are looking for practices which will overcome the hazards of dry weather. Here are some things that will pay—come dry weather or rain.

Sow Sudan Grass. This drought resistant grass is very dependable. The best variety is "Piper" which is a little more costly than common sweet sudan but is more resistant to leaf diseases and contains less prussic acid. It is excellent for pasture or silage. Sow on a well prepared seed bed after corn planting time. Use 25 or 30 pounds of seed per acre and apply a high nitrogen fertilizer. If possible sow on level land to reduce dangers of erosion.

Put up silage. Any farmer with 10 or more head of cattle should plan now to make silage this year. It is good insurance against feed shortage during droughts or severe winters. Surplus spring pasture, small grain, sudan grass, sorghum, and corn are among the good crops for silage. The silo need not be expensive. Several types of temporary or semi-temporary types of upright and trench silos are available. Discuss this matter with your County Agent now.

Fertilize efficiently. Even well fertilized crops sometimes fail for lack of water, but, where plenty of plant food is available, crops withstand drought better and recover faster than those on soils of low fertility. Indiscriminate fertilizing is poor economy. Test your soil and use the grades of fertilizer needed.

BERRY CROP TO DECLINE

Frankfort, Ky., May -- Advance indications point to a commercial strawberry crop in Kentucky of no more than 55 per cent of normal, M. J. Vinson, director of the division of markets, in the State Department of Agriculture, reported.

A survey made by field men of the department in the eight commercial producing areas of the state brought forth an estimate of 1,790 acres of berries—little above one-half the average acreage of the past four years. However, last year's average was only approximately 82 per cent of the normal production with a total of 2,055 acres being harvested for commercial purposes.

He attributed the marked decline to severe drought conditions during the last two growing and the shortage in labor supply. A large pool of seasonal labor is required during the picking and crating operations.

EDWIN BONDURANT IS SALUTATORIAN AT FULTON HIGH

Edwin Bondurant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Bondurant, 414 Maple Avenue, has been named Salutatorian or the 1954 graduating class of Fulton High School. His rating is 28750.

Before moving to Fulton in 1946, Edwin lived in the Liberty Baptist Church community and attended Cayce school through the fourth grade. He attended Terry Norman in the fifth and sixth grades, going on to Carr Institute to finish Junior High.

He was awarded the American Legion Medal upon graduation from the eighth grade. Edwin was president of his class during his Freshman and Sophomore years and vice-president during his Junior and Senior years. He served as Distribution Manager on the 1954 Annual Staff. On March 5-6, of this year he represented the local Rotary Club at the World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati.

Although Edwin's only participation in the school athletic program was during the last half of the 1953 season in football, he is an avid sports follower and likes to play several sports. He was a paper boy for the Fulton Daily Leader from 1948 to 1952, making many friends on his East Fulton route.

A member of the First Baptist Church, Edwin is very regular in attendance and a leader among the youth of the church. He has attended several state and south-wide conventions in connection with his church work. He is also a member of the church choir.

Edwin has the distinction of being Fulton's only licensed Amateur Radio, or "Ham", operator, his call letters being W4WXL. He has conducted two-way communication with 45 of the 48 states and 4 foreign countries. Although he can transmit either by voice or the International Morse Code, he prefers code due to the better distance possible on it. Almost every afternoon at 5 o'clock, Monday through Friday, he "goes on the air" for the purpose of handling messages for people all over the world, this feat being made possible by a complex amateur network. He is a fairly competent radio-man, having built much of his "Ham" equipment himself.

Edwin plans to attend college next fall, although he has not definitely decided where he will go. At college he plans to major in Electrical Engineering and then go on to a career in Radio-Electronics.

LUCIAN ISBELL TO SERVE FARM BOARD

The appointment of Lucian H. Isbell to the State Farm Bureau Insurance Board was announced by Burl St. Clair, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation this week.

Mr. Isbell will serve the Purchase area for one year.

DAIRYMEN URGED TO CULL ALL LOW PRODUCING COWS

Dairymen can increase profits, cut down on labor, and help the dairy surplus situation by culling out unprofitable cows, suggest dairy specialists.

In too many herds, unprofitable cows have been kept because they would bring very little on the market. This has been false economy, warn the specialists. Most herds could sell the low fourth of the herd and make as much net income as they now make, they point out. The low producers return only about one-fourth as much above feed cost as the best cows in the herd, and make little or no net income.

Cows that could well be culled now are low producers, which are seldom profitable, especially when prices are low, old cows, poor breeders, cows with damaged udders, who usually produce less and are frequently a source of infection for the rest of the herd, and cows with Bangs or other diseases or injuries.

Prices for cull dairy cows are usually higher during the next two months than at any other time during the year. Such cows sold now before pasture, get short will sell at highest prices, save pasture for the good cows in the herd, reduce the spread of disease, and reduce milk supplies during the surplus period, the specialists point out.

Allow Foliage of Bulbs To Mature

Allow foliage of the hardy bulbs such as tulips, narcissus, and hyacinths to mature and turn brown before it is removed, advise horticulturists.

The crop for the next year is being made now in the bulbs forming underground. The specialists point out. These developing bulbs need the green foliage above ground, and it should not be removed until its purpose has been served.

"About one hundred druggists, from the thirteen counties comprising the district, are expected to attend the dinner meeting, which is set for 7:30 P. M.," said Williamson. The affair will be preceded by a cocktail party at 6:30 P. M., at which time wholesalers will be hosts to the group.

Hardesty, the third Kentuckian to head the national organization in its fifty-six-year history, is a former president of the Louisville Retail Druggists Association. He also served five years as a member of the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy.

Officers of the district group, in addition to Williamson, are George Stone, Mayfield, vice-president; and Eugene Phillips, Paducah, secretary-treasurer.

C. H. McDaniel, of Fulton, is a member of the group's board of directors.

Cancer is a disease that menaces mankind from the cradle to old age, the American Cancer Society points out. It kills more children from 3 to 15 than any other disease and yet half of its victims are over 65 years of age.

MRS. FALL MAKES REPORT TO GIRL SCOUT COUNCIL

Prominent Local Leader Tells Of Work Done Here

Members of the Bear Creek Girl Scout Council heard summaries of the year's work at their annual meeting last week.

Among the highlights of committee reports was the information submitted by the Camp Bear Creek committee that a total of 340 camper weeks were recorded last season, a substantial increase over the previous year.

According to the training committee report, 13 training courses and 13 conferences and workshops were held in 12 communities during the year for the adults in Girl Scouting.

The swimming lessons for McCracken County Girl Scouts and the Christmas carol programs presented in several communities, as well as the building up of a strong Senior Scout program, were mentioned in the report of the program committee.

Reports were also heard from the following committees: Fulton, Hickman, West McCracken, field, public relations, staff and office. The reports were given by Mrs. Ernest Fall Jr., Mrs. Bill Harper, Mrs. R. G. Dustin, Mrs. Myron Mayer, Miss Pat Paxton, Dr. J. B. Temple Jr., Mrs. Paul Sargent and Mrs. Edwin Roof.

Dr. R. G. Matheson, president of the Bear Creek Council, presided over the meeting. Dr. Matheson said the board of directors is becoming concerned with the number of requests for money for Girl Scouts and the effect upon good community relationships, and that the board would soon be asking opinions from the council as a whole regarding money-raising activities.

A by-law amendment making provision for members at large on the board of directors was passed, upon the recommendation of the committee appointed to review the by-laws.

Miss Carolyn Carson, Chairman of the program committee and Mrs. William Vicinus, Vice-president and co-ordinator of camping committees, were ratified by the council as members of the board of directors. Mrs. W. W. Dyer was elected a member-at-large of the board of directors and Mrs. Charles Torreyson was elected a member of the membership-nominating committee.

A panel discussion was also presented at the meeting by the Senior Girl Scouts, concerning various aspects of the Senior program including the need for a unit of tents for the advanced campers at Camp Bear Creek. The members of the panel modeled the four uniforms currently worn by Senior Scouts.

NEW NOTES IN COOKING

By Joan M. Rock

BIG PLATTER MEALS

Comes a time in every daily food plan, when the cook wishes to goodness she could put everything into one operation, put a lot of something on a big platter, and shoot the family from under foot—into the living room; out into the garden, out on the porch. This is the time for one substantial dish, a lot of buttered bread or rolls, a bowl of fruit, to appear; let everyone serve and look after himself. The dish may be hot or cold, depending upon weather, personal choice, or whatever else is served to balance it in temperature. Thus, cold salad should be balanced with a hot soup or beverage; a hot dish may stand alone, or be introduced by a chilled soup. Crusty French bread, buttered and toasted (garlic bread, if you wish), or toasted biscuits or scones, will be the something crisp needed, if there is time to prepare it.

MACARONI SHELL SALAD WITH MARINATED SHRIMP

1 (8-oz.) pkg. macaroni shells 1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons grated onion Few grain pepper
1/4 cup sliced, stuffed olives 1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent
1/4 cup chopped celery 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/4 cup diced pimiento Salad greens
1/4 cup diced green pepper

Cook macaroni shells in boiling salted water until tender; drain; rinse with cold water; chill. Combine shells with remaining ingredients except greens. Toss lightly until well mixed. Serve on crisp salad greens (either on one platter or on individual salad plates) accompanied by chilled, cooked shrimp marinated in French dressing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

To prepare shrimp: Wash 2 pounds shrimp in cold water. Drop into 2 quarts boiling water to which has been added 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon Ac'cent, 6 peppercorns, and 3 slices lemon. Bring to boil; boil 8 to 7 minutes, depending on size of shrimp. Drain; rinse with cold water; cool; remove shells; devein. Marinate in French dressing in refrigerator for several hours; drain and serve.

Susan Martin closed the meeting with a showing of colored slides of troop camp activities in the council.

ISOTOPES FIGHT CANCER

Radioactive isotopes—by-products of atomic energy—are being used in treating certain cancers, the American Cancer Society announced. Cancers previously unaccessible are being reached by radioactive substances.

ARMY WORMS ARE MENACE IN COUNTY; GROWERS WARNED

A statewide infestation of army worms equalling or surpassing 1953 infestations is under way.

All growers in all parts of the state are urged to keep an eye out in their small grain and pasture crops for the presence of these destructive pests. Once the worms are found at the rate of 4 or 5 to the square foot, plans for control efforts should be put into effect immediately. No waiting period should be allowed in effecting control measures since once these worms begin to feed heavily, destruction is very rapid and usually total, say entomologists.

Control efforts are underway in many parts of the state using airplanes and ground equipment. In any case controls should be started well ahead of peak activity by the nearly grown worms in order to avoid a jam-up in control efforts. There is not enough ground insecticidal application equipment in the state, nor can enough airplanes be brought in to apply insecticides to everyone's infestations at once in the short period of time needed to save a crop.

Once controls have been applied to fields, re-infestations of the same field or the same general infestation have never been recorded in the history of the control of this insect, the entomologists point out. County agents can give detailed information on control methods.

Every day 620 Americans die of cancer, American Cancer Society statistics show.

OVER $460,000,000

Yes, over $460,000,000 was spent in Kentucky last year through the travel industry. That's a lot of dollars . . . and it takes a lot of doing to keep these dollars flowing . . .

Your state government feels that it is in a partnership with the owners of hotels, tourist courts, restaurants and other businesses that cater to the traveler and with the Kentucky State Chamber of Commerce and local organizations to promote the travel industry and to serve those who want to visit over Kentucky.

The Kentucky Division of Publicity wages an all-out campaign to attract tourists into Kentucky, and its national advertising campaign has resulted in an average of 120,000 inquiries from out-of-state tourists annually.

Through the Division of Parks, your state government has built a system of state parks that are attracting national attention and aiding in bringing many thousands of visitors into Kentucky each month.

The travel industry is big business, and its benefits reach into many communities and rewards flow from it into many pockets. Let's take care of the visitors . . . treat them right so that they will go away pleased, will return themselves and send others to us. Give them a full measure of true Kentucky hospitality.

SESSION UNLIKELY

Frankfort, Ky., May -- There is no likelihood of a special session of the Kentucky General Assembly in the immediate future, Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby declared.

Earlier some hope had been held that there might be a session to deal with truck-weight limits, highway-use taxes and other road problems, but these were conditioned upon previous action being taken by the recent Governor's Conference in Washington. Consideration of the topic did not take place then.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Frankfort, Ky., May -- An agreement among counsel in the controversy over teaching in the public schools by nuns of the Roman Catholic faith and transportation of children to parochial schools with the use of public funds was reached this week in an effort to eliminate much of the proof-taking usually incident to such litigation.

The issue will thus be submitted to Franklin Circuit Court Judge William B. Ardery at end of May.

COUNCIL NAMED

Frankfort, Ky., May -- Governor Wetherby named a Kentucky Council on Regional Education, which will serve as Kentucky's Representative on the Southern Regional Education Board, an agency under which students of one state, unable to obtain certain courses of instruction in one state, may do so in another state under public auspices.

Kentucky, for illustration, has no veterinary school, but sends students to states which do. Likewise, students in other states in the region send pupils to Kentucky for courses offered there that are not offered in their home states.

The Governor named Dr. Phillip G. Davison, president of the University of Louisville, as chairman. Other members are Dr. Leo Chamberlain, University of Kentucky vice-president, Charles W. Burnley, Paducah, speaker of the State House of Representatives; State Senator James M. Lassiter, Murray; Mark Ethridge, Louisville, newspaper

PROSPECTS FOR RIVER PARKWAY LOOK BRIGHTER ACCORDING TO FRED STOKES

Fred Stokes, Sr., who returned last Thursday from the 42nd annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D. C., reported that prospects for the Great River Road along the Mississippi look better than ever.

Mr. Stokes, who attended the meeting as a representative of the Hickman Chamber, stated that no statement could be released on present developments, the Chamber's sponsorship of the proposed river parkway is gaining ground.

A joint survey approved by Congress was made by the departments of Commerce and Interior in 1949 outlining the characteristics of the Mississippi River, possibilities of the parkway project and a recommended plan. Congress passed on April 14, 1954 a conference bill authorizing $250,000 to expedite interstate planning and coordination of a continuous river parkway, to be known as the "Great River Road". This act by Congress was considered by the USCC as the next "great step" toward development of the Mississippi River Parkway.

The parkway would stretch ultimately from the source to the sea of the Mississippi River. The plan would call for the use of 6% of the present highways and the present trans-river bridges—reducing the length of the parkway 500 miles by cutting through bends along the river. Length of the road from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico is estimated at 2200 miles, with the roads to go through part of each state bordering the river.

The parkway project was begun in 1938 on the initiative of a group in Minneapolis. Interest spread to ten states bordering the river, and annual meetings were inaugurated. The last was at Natchez, Miss., in 1953 and the next will be held in St. Louis in October, 1954.

Regular political party and officers in districts containing more than one county, or for state-wide office, must file their declarations of candidacy with the Secretary of State by June 12, while candidates for offices in one county or less must file with county clerks by June 23.

Independent candidates for offices in one county or less must file by June 22, while independent candidates for city officers must file by September 17.

INVESTMENT ORDERED

Frankfort, Ky., May -- The State Investment Commission ordered that all current cash holdings, not required for immediate cash outlay, be invested in short-term interest-bearing government bonds or notes.

The commission, composed of Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby, chairman; State Treasurer Pearl F. Runyon and Commissioner of Finance George T. Stewart, decided that funds on deposits in "inactive" accounts -- amounting to several million dollars -- and yielding no interest return, might well be invested at interest where not immediately required to meet governmental needs.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD ON TUESDAY FOR MRS. WILLIAMS

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock at the Hornbeak Funeral Home for Mrs. Olivia Zell Williams, 82, one of this county's beloved pioneer citizens. Mrs. Williams had been a resident of this county for nearly 80 years. Born in Missouri she was the daughter of the late Riley Turley and Martha McFall Torley, residents of this county. They moved to Missouri where Mr. Turley was a merchant and where Mrs. Williams was born. They returned here when the deceased was two years old.

As a young lady Mrs. Williams taught school in the old Bennett schoolhouse in the Water Valley vicinity. She was married to Mr. Williams when she was eighteen years old and to this union four children were born.

The deceased was a devout Christian and a member of the First Methodist Church. Her entire life was devoted to her home and her family.

Mrs. Williams leaves two sons, Clyde P. Williams, Sr., and Olm P. Williams, both of Fulton; a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Genung of Chicago; nine grandchildren; and 10 great grandchildren.

One daughter, Mrs. Vivian Owen preceded her in death.
